

How Gen. Scott was Defeated.

From the Ashley Daily Advertiser.

It is now pretty generally understood that General Scott was defeated in the nomination for President at the Philadelphia convention by the use made by his enemies there of an unfortunate letter written to the Native Americans of that city in 1814.

Comments of the Albany Express.

It was indeed unfortunate for Gen. Scott that he fraternized so cordially with "Natives." We went to Philadelphia assured that he was no farther identified with than misfortune can allow him to have written an ill-judged article in the National Intelligencer. But his "Native" correspondents at Philadelphia produced two original letters from General Scott showing that he was with them in sentiment and action.

Comment by the N. Y. Express.

We are assured, however, that in substance these letters were up to prevent General Scott's nomination at Philadelphia. The body of the letters may be his, but forged interlocutions perverted the original meaning:—We do not know the author of these tricks—but he who he may be, he deserves universal execration.

The GROANS OF OLD WHIGGY.—The N. Y. Express, thus groans over the anticipated Tylerizing of Taylorism:

"Is it possible that General Taylor can see the motley crew that he is assembling about him for the Presidency? There is not a Taylor man from Texas to Maine, that is not a Taylor man, too. There is not a deserter from the Whigs or the Democrats, from Dan to Beersheba, that is not a Taylor man. Everything that has been cast off, or kicked off, the two great parties of the country, as naturally clings to the skirts of Taylor's popularity, as they cling to the skirts of Taylor's power. We do not mean to say that there may not be thousands, who are not his friends, and who would not be friendly to him as a candidate for the Presidency—but these men who howl for him, and who howl after him, as a "No-Party Candidate," as the odds and ends, beyond all doubt, of both parties—residuum of what was left of their respective parties when they went through the process of boiling and purification. Is Gen. Taylor going to trust himself to found a party upon them?"

MORE DEVELOPMENTS.—The Louisville Democrat, in reply to the editor of the Journal of that city, who stated on the authority of a paragraph from an eastern paper, that Mr. Clay had disclosed his intention, to use his influence to elect Gen. Taylor, uses this emphatic language:

"Now this editor knows this is not the case. He knows on the contrary, that Mr. Clay is deeply dissatisfied. That he has been written to by respectable gentlemen in this city, to give some public expressions of his intention to support Taylor, and he has declined to do so."

In addition to this Mr. Clay's relatives and old personal friends, in Louisville and Lexington, are not only murmuring, but are open and loud in their denunciation of the treachery by which he was deceived, and of John C. Crittenden's conduct, is even spoken of by the leading whigs of Kentucky.—Ohio Statesman.

Gen. SAM HUTCHINSON, in an eloquent and happy speech before an overwhelming meeting of the Democracy of New York, assembled to respond to the nominations of Cass and Butler, gave the following illustration of the game which the Federalists are playing in the nomination of General Taylor:

"There is a story told of a good old Dutchman who lost his son—(hours of laughter)—and he called his son Jaques, one day, and said to him, 'Jaques, we must go in search of the son.' 'Well,' said Jaques, 'where shall we go to find it?' 'I'll tell you, Jaques,' said the Dutchman, 'we shall go search in the creek.' 'Very well,' said Jaques, 'and how shall we go about it?' 'I'll tell you, Jaques,' said the Dutchman, 'let you go down on this side, and I'll go down on that side, and we'll be sure to catch the sow at both sides.' (Immense laughter and cheering.) So it will be with the whigs. (A voice in the crowd, 'They have caught the sow by the wrong ear.') Loud laughter.)"

ABUSING GEN. TAYLOR.—Let not the whig press dare accuse the democracy of abusing Gen. Taylor. The charge is blazoned upon the whigs with a force and truth which no hypocrisy now can eradicate. Witness the following:

WEBSTER, who said "that all the laurels won in this war were soiled and disdained."

CORWIN, who wished "the Mexicans to give Taylor and his troops HOSPITALABLE GRAVES WITH BLOODY HANDS."

CHANDLER, who said, "Taylor ought to be cashiered for the capitulation of Monterey."

GREELLEY, who shouted, "Accursed be this infamous war!"

PRENTICE, who calls it "A war against God!"

ASHMUN, whose amendment to the vote of thanks to General Taylor still festers upon the Congressional record.

OPINION OF A LEADING WHIG JOURNAL OF GEN. CASS.—The editor of the Courier and Enquirer, of May 30th, in its leading article says:

"It is too much the custom of the mere party press to perceive nothing but what is evil in an opponent, and only good qualities, real or imaginary—in a political friend. We accordingly find Gen. Cass spoken of as a man without character and without political strength. This is a great error. In all the relations of private life, Gen. Cass has been known to the writer for nearly thirty years; and a more esteemed father and husband, or a more honorable conscientious gentleman, we are not acquainted with. Of his talents there can be no question, and were he a whig in principle, the election of no man to the Presidency would give us more pleasure. But he is not a Whig."

NATIVISM.—The organ of the Philadelphia Church-burners claims Gen. Taylor as the candidate of its party, and adds:

"Let independent Rough and Ready clubs be organized every where, and let all true friends of Gen. Taylor and the country, go to work in the right spirit to lay broad and deep the foundations of the great American party, in whose hands the liberties of the country and the happiness of the people will be secure."

It has an Electoral ticket at the head of its columns, and means to force the Whigs to vote for it.

WHIG LIES.—As a specimen of what the readers of Federal newspapers are expected to believe, we would select the following—giving to the editor the full benefit of his own stile. The Memphis (Tennessee) Eagle, in referring to the Democratic nomination, says that "Cass was born a Federalist, as it were; and actually sported a Federal cockade on his hat during the Revolutionary war!" Gen. Cass was born in 1782, and the revolutionary war closed in 1783!

HIGH COMPLIMENT.—The Washington correspondent of the New-York Advertiser thus speaks of Mr. Niles's recent speech in the Senate, on the difficult question of slavery in the territories:

"The speech that he made, had it been delivered in the National Assembly of France—either at the present time, or in 1793—would take a prominent place in historical oratory, on the same pages with the philosophical harangues of Mirabeau and Lamartine."

"ANECDOTES."—A fresh lot of "anecdotes of Gen. Taylor" will doubtless soon make their appearance. Indeed some of them have already come to hand. One before us, "Fresh from the mint," is pretty good, only it commits a slight error in making Santa Anna the Mexican General at Monterey. A little practice, however, will soon make perfect, and obviate these objections.—New Albany Democrat.

"THE great recommendation of the Federal candidate for Vice President, MILLARD FILLMORE, in the eyes of the Federal party, is that he VOTED FOR, and was an ardent friend of the BANKRUPT LAW—and when the question comes up for its adoption, not only VOTED, but made a strong AGAINST ITS REPEAL."

THE "WHIG" BURNERS.—The Tribune now gives a list of forty Whig newspapers out against the nomination of Taylor. Very good quarrel.

CORRESPONDENCE.

CINCINNATI, July 6, 1843.
FRIEND CHAPMAN.—We have just got over the 4th of July, which, as it always is, was a great day. There was no public celebration, but the whole people were in the streets doing, as nice a job as could be done, and the best before noon, in. In the way of politics there is not much of a stir. Since the late report in relation to General Taylor and the Louisiana delegation to the convention, the high toned wags say that Clay must be nominated and one by them never saw matters in just such a fix, but still we are not disposed to think that just Cass and Butler's prospects are increasing.

For the past week our citizens have been delighted with the great National Circus Company of Welch, Delavan, & Nathan, which is the opinion of our citizens a little ahead of the rest of the land seen by them. The company has encamped in the neighborhood of Cincinnati, and drawn by thirty horses.

They are likely to think of that many to manage them with perfect ease. It is hard to find better performers than Nathan's own pup, Frank Porter, young Rivers, Chambers, not forgetting the clown, Frank Bowler. However, they will visit your city soon, and then you can judge for yourselves. Give them a welcome, for they deserve it. I have no news of any importance.

Yours,

G. B.

Keep it before the people, that Gen. Taylor said that the volunteers of Missouri are at their disposal at once. The people of Florida, who have as far as you know been very anxious about this. He is an officer of the regular army, in the most acute and wanton manner, declaring that all such soldiers will do worse than the Missouri volunteers, whom he has held up to the world as naked cowards. Young men of the country, do you know any such and do you know who say of the men who would prostrate your honor as a citizen soldier and give the preference to the man who is to fight in the regular army? I have said enough on this to sound your indignation and cause you to spurn from your suffrage the man who tried to put you even below the slaves.

Keep it for the people, that Gen. Z. Taylor had Spanish blood mixed to Florida to kill the poor Indians in the swamp. The screams of the innocent women and helpless babes had no effect to cause his savage cruelty to relent. What set the dogs upon the Indians? Yes, Sir, the dogs were sent to the Indians to be torn to bleeding morsels, and eaten in the full gaze of their frenzied masters. One cold heart that could do so! White, say nothing more about the humanity of the ignoble stipulation of M. Taylor.

Keep it before the people, that Gen. Taylor charged the Indians with robbing and slaying their betrothed, and that they could not be railed a second time. He is ready to do so again.

Keep it before the people, that Gen. Taylor has sold his bonds and stocks to Florida to kill the poor Indians.
